H. HESTER, -

TO
DR. PIERCE BUTLER

IF WE FOLLOWED THE FASHION IN DEDICATIONS, WE WOULD DEDICATE THIS BOOK TO OUR SEVEREST CRITIC OR OUR EVER-WILLING FRIEND. BUT YOU ARE SOMETHING MORE THAN A CRITIC AND A FRIEND, AND IF WE SPEAK OF YOU ONLY AS A FRIEND OR CRITIC OF THE STUDENTS, WE WOULD BE TAKING NO ACCOUNT OF YOUR GREATER IMPORTANCE AS AN AUTHOR. AND, THEREFORE, THE BOARD OF EDITORS OF THE 1918 JAMBALAYA DEDICATE THIS VOLUME TO YOU, DR. PIERCE BUTLER, DEAN OF THE GRADUATE DEPARTMENT, AND PROFESSOR OF ENGLISH LITERATURE AT NEWCOMB COLLEGE, TO SHOW THE UNIVERSITY'S APPRECIATION OF YOUR LITERARY ATTAINMENTS.

BRANDT V. B. DIXON, A.M., LL.B.
PRESIDENT OF NEWCOMB COLLEGE.

1918 Class Poem

What tho "leaving" rhyme with "grieving"?
What tho "morrow" rhyme with "sorrow"?
We of '18 no sad sentiments
From former classes borrow.

Tho "depart" and "aching heart"
Make the couplet a temptation;
Spite of "college" and "knowledge,"
We declare emancipation.

For a song too sad for words
Is for silence worse than singing.
And our love for Newcomb deeper far
Than suits the pian's ringing.

From thy memory, dear Newcomb,
Ne'er this thought of us dis sever:
We've done our best for four long years,
And shall be faithful ever.

1919 Class Poem

"Adomnira Parata" is a motto good and true—
Meant for Nineteen Nineteen as well as me and you.
Prepared for work, prepared for play, prepared for everything,
"Adomnia Parata" is the message that we bring.

If I were to spend my time in search of high praise
My efforts would be futile; for in these troubled days
The class which stands ready to heed each college call—
Which is prepared for everything—that's the finest class of all.

Newcomb 1920 Class Poem

In the city of cities,
In the state of all states,
In God's own country I stand;
I live for all knowledge,
I'm called Newcomb College,
I'm known all over the land.

I've watched many people,
I've learned many things,
I've lived and I've loved and had plenty;
But the older I grow
The more joys I know;
Now my prime joy's the class that's called "Twenty.

That's a great class, my star class;
They're the pride of my heart.
I'm partial, I'll have to admit.
They play such good ball;
Oh, they're winners—that's all
And they have so much spirit and grit.

They're Sophomores this year;
In all branches they shine.
All those girls are so charming, so dapper!
Have you heard the "Soph" band?
Not a "Soph" will be canned;
Why, they all deserve Phi Beta Kappa!

But the reason I love
The Sophomore class,
And prefer them above all the rest,
Is because their affection
Is in my direction—
The Sophomore class loves me best.

LUDA REYNOLDS.

Your Flag and My Flag

Your flag and my flag, and how it flies today;
In your land and my land, and half a world away.
Rose-red and blood-red, the stripes forever gleam;
Snow-white and soul-white, the good forefather's dream.
Sky-blue and true-blue, with stars that shine aright,
A gloried guidon of the day, a shelter through the night.

Your flag and my flag, and, oh! how much it holds;
Your land and my land, secure within its folds.
Your heart and my heart beat faster at its sight;
Sun-kissed and wind-tossed, the red and blue and white.
The one flag, the great flag, the flag for me and you,
Glorified all else besides, the red and white and blue.

Class History

As we now press forward, nearing the final goal for which we have striven with ever-increasing zeal, and to which we have often looked up in wondering admiration, we falter in our steps, anxious to be "up and doing," yet clinging to our Alma Mater with an ever-tightening grasp.

Must we here recount our great achievements of the past four years, as the vainglorious do, trusting not that the greatness of our deeds will perpetuate them? Must we tell you, dear reader, where to look for genius and, perhaps, see you turn away greatly disappointed in not finding our works in every hall, our names on every tongue? We are confident in our accomplishments; their greatness shall preserve them.

As Freshmen, we were obsessed with vain pride. Self-importance persisted through our Sophomore days. As serious Juniors and Seniors, we have at last realized that the world is not patiently waiting for us. We must exhibit our value.

Although we leave its halls, and even though we say "farewell" to our dear Tulane, we shall be with her always in spirit, sometimes in reality. Our common interest is in her welfare. Our allegiance is first, to our country, and secondly, to our Alma Mater.

Junior Arts and Sciences Class History

THE moon of success was high in the heavens when they started out, and the road ahead was bathed in silvery sheen which obliterated the dark places. There were fifty-five of them when the little band began to clear a passage through a trackless forest. The trees had to be cut and the steps forward analyzed; but these were operations which in the end would make the sought-for land more worthy of appreciation.

When the silvery road faded into a trackless barrier some became disheartened, but the rest, armed with implements to achieve, to cut away, to reach the promised land, clenched their fists and bodily determined to succeed, and with courageousness, untiring energy, loyalty, co-operation and dogged perseverance, they grappled the obstacles of obstruction.

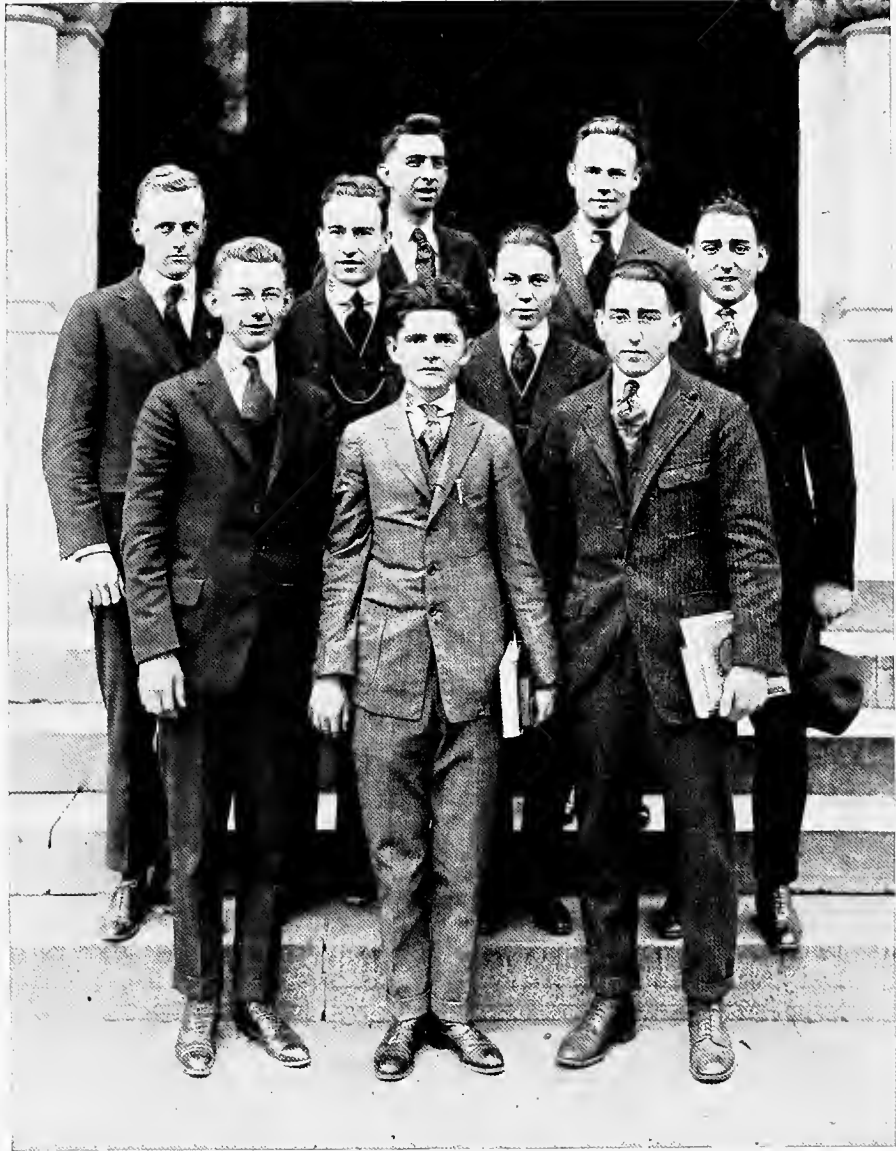

The forest woodland echoed with the sound of their progress. The trees quivered and fell en masse. The dense undergrowth sometimes offered persistent opposition, but the "never-give-up" strokes of untiring energy made it succumb; and then the pioneers slowly pushed forward to encounter the denser and more difficult parts where the moon of success could not penetrate. "The harder the accomplishment, the greater the reward," reverberated in their brains.

And now that only one-fourth of that trackless forest remains to be traversed before the vari-colored land of ultimate goal is reached, the few that have survived glimpse the moon of success now and then as a stray beam gilds the tops of the forest trees on a perfect night.

The little band of thirteen now gather together and animatedly talk of their comrades who have left them; of those who have fallen out because the struggle proved too great; of those who had fire in their veins for adventures more exciting, who buckled on armor and sailed over high seas to dispute the claims of a man who measures his success by the hundreds of lives daily sacrificed upon the altar of his ambition. Lastly, they discuss that land—that cloudless land—which holds the fruits of their accomplishment; and, with smiles, they picture the time when they will have arrived at the base of the pyramid that would lead to their pinnacle of success.

Then the moon which had so brightly shone for them when they started out—that same moon which had sent a ray of encouragement when they plodded wearily on, wondering if it were all worth it—will shower soft radiance upon them, and if sometimes it may pass behind black clouds, will again reappear to point out the right direction. Above all, that trackless forest will be carved in their minds as a thing to love forever.

Sophomore Arts and Sciences Class History

WE are the Class of 1920. Our pictures are on the opposite page. We hope, kind readers, that you will enjoy this glimpse of us; for you must realize that it is, indeed, a rare opportunity which enable you to look upon so much intelligence grouped together on one sheet of paper.

When we were Freshmen we accomplished a great many things. Incidentally, we pulled the Sophomores through the pond, beat them in debate and on the track.

One of our class won the Carnot Debating Medal and the Glendy Burke Medal for Oratory, the first time that this has ever been done by a Freshman in the history of Tulane University. Another won the Glendy Burke Medal for English essay. We did equally well in athletics, being well represented on Tulane's football, basketball, and track teams.

So far in our Sophomore year, we have defeated the Freshmen in the tug-of-war and in the wrestling, and have played them a tie game in football. Again, the Carnot Medal has been won by a member of the Class of 1920. Two of us are Varsity debaters, and the honor of having a classmate as captain of the football team is also ours.

In a brief year and a half we have attained these honors. But if, as historian, I may be permitted to intrude, you must believe me when I say that as a class we do not value them. Already we have come to feel the spirit of old Tulane. The friendships we have formed and are forming are dear to us. We will always be loyal to our class, to our classmates, and, above all, to our University.

Freshman Arts and Sciences Class History

Merely a writer of Freshman History, my work would be ended before it had begun; but I must be more than that; I must foretell the future of the Freshman Class.

We have contended thrice with the Sophomores. Twice we were defeated, and once we were tied. The Sophomors gloat over their victories, while we are not daunted over our defeats—in fact, we even laugh with them. It was fun when we were pulled through the pond in Audubon Park. We are not made of sugar; water won't melt us. Again, who would expect us to outmatch the Sophomores at wrestling—Sophomores who had a year's training, while we have had none? Then, when it came to football, they held us scoreless. We admit they did well.

Now let us come to the future. Are we going to sit and mope over our defeats? No; not we. We have learned that we will have to stick together in order to accomplish anything, and we are going to do it. As for individual merit, we have it, as was well shown by the number of players that we put upon the 'Varsity football team, and, from present indications, we will do equally well upon the track.

Now, we have one failing. We do not know enough. We are aware of that fact, and for that reason we wear little green caps. These caps aid us to think, and in a short while we will know as much as the Sophomores, or, at least, some of them.

Our greatest task lies in the making of a history for ourselves. We have the ability, the determination, and the help of the Faculty. The rest is merely a matter of time.

Junior Technology Class History

F the many classes that pass through our University, there are always one or two that stand out conspicuously; and the Tech Class of 1919 is one of them.

Former issues of this popular journal bear evidence of this very potent fact, but for the benefit of our new subscribers we shall briefly enumerate a few of their accomplishments.

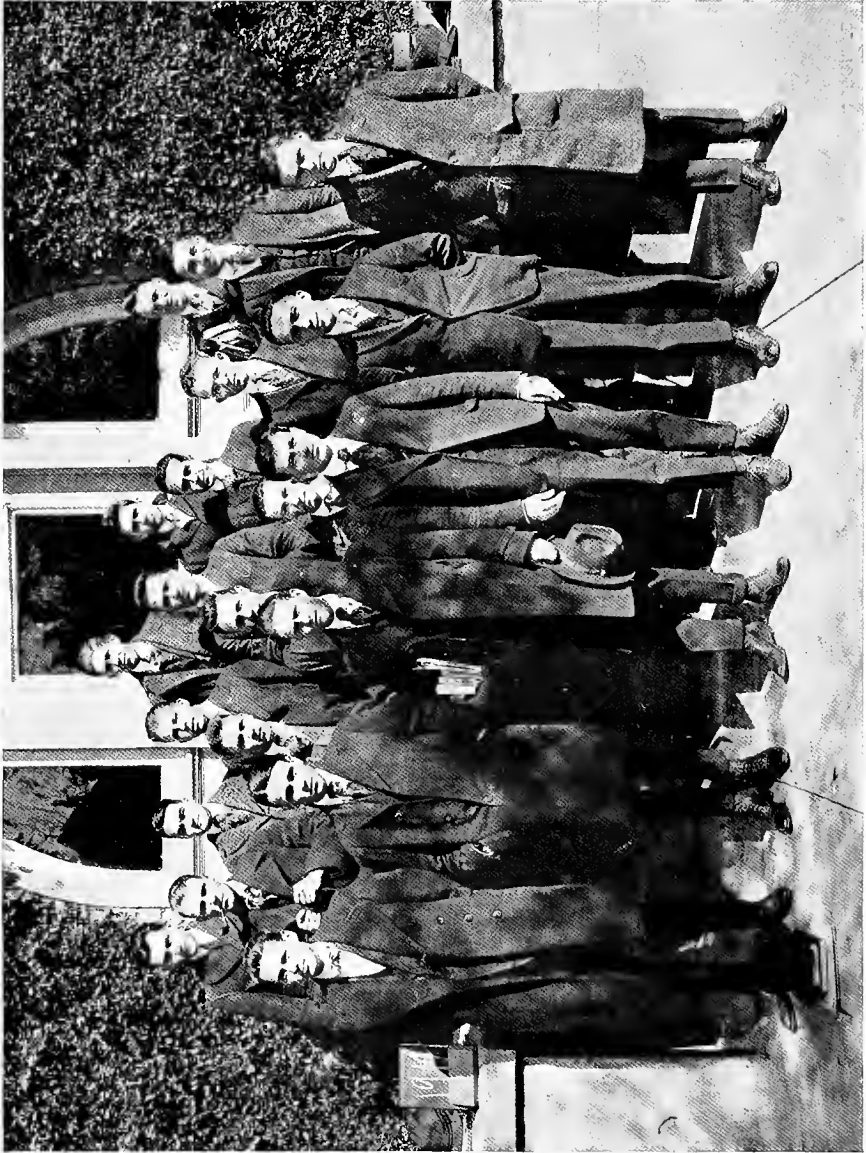

As Freshmen, they entered every contest with a determination to win, and were crowned with VICTORY at the end of their "green-cap" reign." Unlike most victors in interclass contests, they did not win sixty per cent of the various competitions, but all of them. And so the Class numerals, 1919, were painted upon the historical old tank on the campus.

Returning, as Sophomores, the following fall, we find their ranks sadly depleted, for several of their best men did not get back. But, although few in number, yet that same old spirit remained, and they were again victorious in the contests with the Freshmen. One glance at the tank is evidence of this fact. As two years is the longest period that class numbers can remain upon the tank, the now famous 1919 will soon be removed; but if four years were made the maximum, we feel confident that this class would have maintained their numbers throughout their sojourn at college.

The attainments of this Class have not been restricted to athletics only, for their class standing in other work is among the best on record. While each and every member of this Class has an individuality all his own, and we would like to mention same, yet our space is limited, and we must be content with describing them as a whole.

In short, they are a group of energetic and congenial young fellows, admired by the Freshmen, respected by the Sophomores, and highly regarded by the Seniors.

Class of 1920

A holy and a haunted ground! when we
Were Sophomores behind this lusty day
Two armies battled in the prime of time.
A Freshman horde of Xere's warring sons
Swept o'er the plains of Tulane, like the dust
Before the day dissolves it into clay.
A tragic few of real men of the earth
Stepped forth; the earth of man stood still
To welcome Sophomores on their hallowed field.
Two armies battled on the sea and land
And triumphed one; and one absorbed the filth
Of mild October's waters—but the last
Man deems the Freshman and the last
A sponge that holds defeat, the world and mire.
And on the land a Freshman army swept
The rugged floors, the floors of rugs and dust
Beneath the pow'rs of wrestling Sophomores.
A Sophomore army occupied the field
To see the captive Freshmen toss the ball
And demonstrate the footwork of the past.
This is a holy and a haunted ground:
The man of triumph struts about like day
Before the clouds have marred its lofty brow.
In abject solitude a Freshman treads:
His was defeat eternal; and like night
Creeps silently ere day has entered in.

History of Freshman Technology Class

THE history of the Technology Class of 1921 is like that of the whole world; it is being made, and thought it has not progressed to a very advanced state, when it is looked back upon, it presents a very bright and prosperous past. From the very day upon which we went through with the ceremonies of matriculation to the present time, we "wearers of the green" have exhibited an abundant supply of both class and school spirit. Scarcely has there been an activity in the University in which the 1921 Technology Class has not figured prominently.

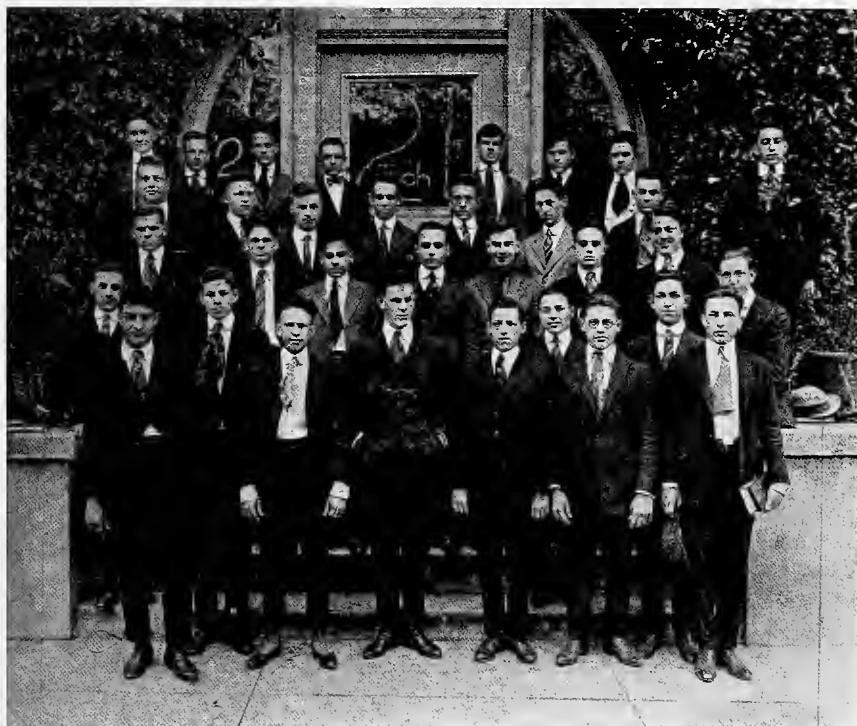

Our tug-of-war contest, though not won by us, was the result of advantage being taken of our kind-heartedness. We were told that among the heavers for the Soph. bunch there were some who had recently recovered from pneumonia, and others who were so deathly afraid of water that if they should get wet they would die. Again, we were told that the park authorities did not want the pond dredged with Sophs., as they were very particular about what was used to dredge this body of water. Therefore, as a result of these existing circumstances, no Sophs. died, and a very select dredge was used on the pond.

As far as the wrestling is concerned, it can truthfully be said that we put up a good fight, and that our defeat, by a small margin, was due only to the efficiency of Professor Hanson as a coach.

In the last contest, however, we had become to some extent trained ourselves, and put up a fight on the gridiron which resulted in a scoreless tie. This, the class that has furnished men for various teams, notably the Varsity football team, which was the first in fourteen years to defeat our annual opponents in the "Turkey Day" game, has come to a point where they are equal to the Sophs, and, gentle reader, in the remaining contests just watch us go "over the top."

Oh, yes—just to give a little hint as to our scholarship—our lettering in our mechanical drawing work has come up to such a grade of excellence that it has been wished by the Dean himself that even the Seniors could do as well. Indeed, we intend putting this good work to some practical use. Again, I say, gentle reader, watch us, and you will see this application put, not upon the sidewalks and buildings, but upon the tank in the form of a large 1921.

History of the Senior Law Class

INSPIRED by visions of August Assizes, cowering criminals, solemn sentences and fabulous fees, the Class of 1918 emerged from obscurity and entered the classic portals of Tulane Law School away back in the halcyon days of September, 1915. Through sunshine and shadow, through the pleasant periods of Judge Foster's lectures, through the darkest labyrinth of St. John's final inquisition, undismayed by the meretricious beckonings of pleasure, the class, for three long years, has pursued the Law, that Jealous Mistress, who, unlike Cassandra, does not babble her oracles in the popular ear, but rather, like the priestess Pythia, sits demurely in her temple and opens her prescient lips only to those who seek her there.

Be it remembered that in spite of the distracting influence of "penny ante" and reticence of Ginsburg, the class aforesaid, then and there, with force and arms, made a felonious attempt to extract knowledge from the vast mines of legal erudition which are so faithfully guarded by Justinian, Demolombe, Pothier, Blackstone and our Lord Coke.

To presage whether these efforts will be requited; whether the judge's ermine, the barrister's robes, or the senatorial toga will reward the lucubrations of this remarkable class would be to prophesy. As a historian, we are estopped from usurping the functions of a seer. Whether the class will religiously adhere to the principle of stare decisis, or become a great creative, constructive force at the bar, on the bench and in the halls of Congress, can only be answered when, through the expiration of time, we are assimilated into the warp and woof of the ancient and honorable legal profession.

The record of the Class of '18 warrants the prediction that if, peradventure, any of its members should hear the clarion call of the populace for public office, that member would eschew the idle babblings of the demagogue as well as appeals to maudlin sentimentality, and seek only the popularity which, in the words of Lord Mansfield, "follow the performance of virtuous deeds."

First Year Law Class History

AS a usual thing, there is very little to write about a first year Law class, but our class has been very different in this respect, mainly due to the very interesting Moot Court introduced by Professor Turck. These cases have been ably argued by future Justices of the Supreme Bench, District Attorneys and able Criminal lawyers. Such men as "Feet" Talbot and Hawkins, J., handed down never-to-be-forgotten decisions. After trial, judgment and execution of the prisoner, post mortems were held. The body would be resurrected, retried and reconvicted or released a half dozen times. At last the poor fellow would become so disgusted at having to jump in and out of his coffin that he would get "peevied," use some vigorous language, and disappear, doubtless preferring the warmer climate below to our heated discussions.

Then the Mid Term examinations drew near. The Library, usually silent and deserted, now began to hum like a beehive, and its atmosphere became thick with the dust blown from the tops of leather-covered volumes. Lines of care developed on many youthful countenances, and the Goddess of Mirth (if there is one) left for parts unknown. Examinations passed (not all of them, I fear), a deep and heartfelt sigh went up to the heavens as a signal to the goddess to return, and everybody took a holiday.

In all college activities, this class has shown to advantage. There are letter men in football and on the track, editors of the "Weekly," captains and lieutenants in the military organization, and, above all, we are honored by having two members of the fair sex with us.

Sophomore Medical Class History

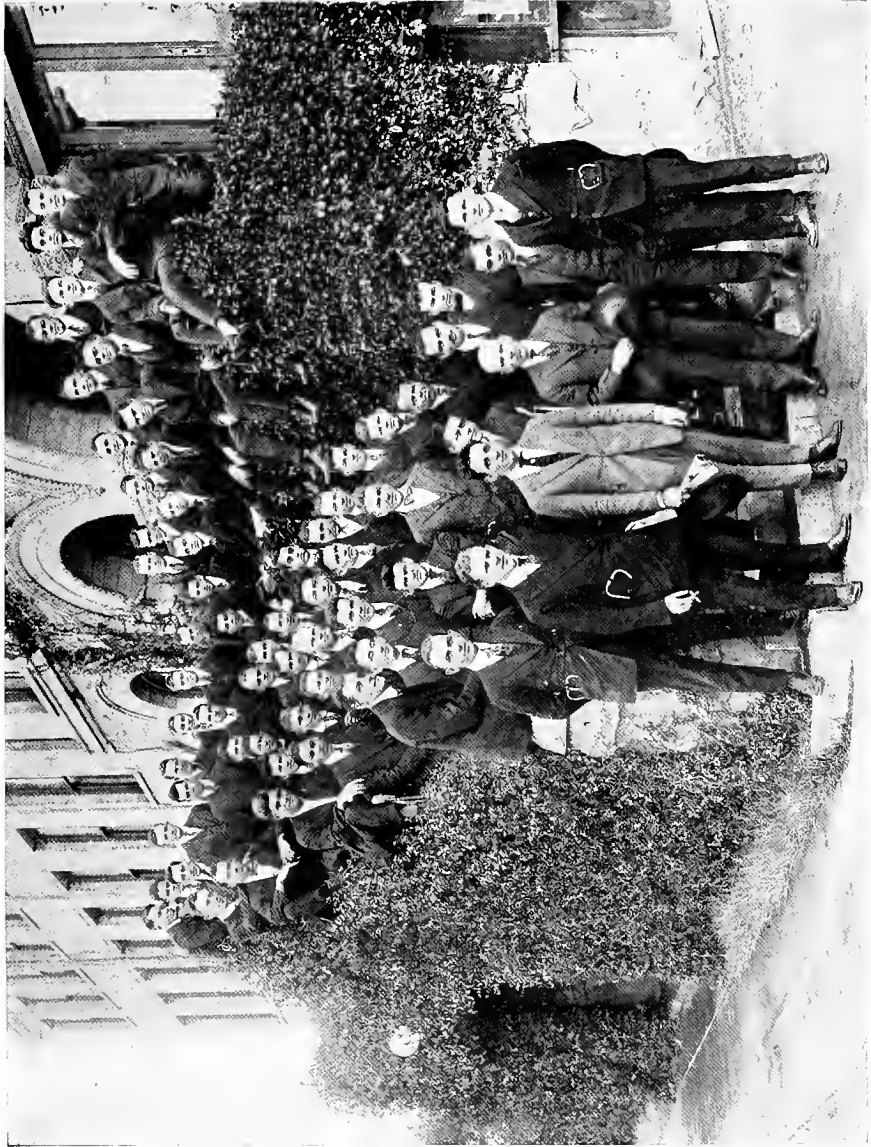

WO years ago we entered the stately halls of Tulane University, imbued with the spirit of Aesculapius, and swore a "mighty oath," not unlike that of our famous predecessor, Hippocrates; resolved to give the medical profession the benefit of our vast and marvelous knowledge.

During this great interim, some departed from our ranks for good, while others sojourned for a week or more as "buck privates" in various training camps, due to the selective draft law. With a little good maneuvering, these men were soon back with us, bearing the title, "Private," in M. E. R. C.

We find ourselves considerably advanced on the road to maturity, with our youthful enthusiasm somewhat changed to a conservative line of thought, directed along more appropriate and rational channels. The difficulties of this year were numerous, with many complicated subjects and intricate problems to master—e. g., physiology; but we had by this time become sturdy soldiers, and by constant attention to duty, we were able to overcome them with credit to ourselves and satisfaction to our professors.

ROY E. DELAHOUSSAYE, Historian.

P. S.—We take this means of thanking some unknown American citizen, a resident of New Orleans, for its timely arrival about 9 a. m. March 4. Sorry I don't know whether its name is "Bill" or "Mary Jane." This information will be gladly furnished by our Professor of Minor Surgery.

Freshmen Medical Class History

ULANE MEDICAL SCHOOL opened wide her portals in 1834, with Registrar Belfield at the desk grabbing the cash, and the greatest body of men that ever slipped two hundred bones apiece into the outstretched palm of old Oswald is about to complete the work of the Freshman year.

We know that we're the best, because great men are always forced to fight opposition and criticism as they journey through life. It is only "The Most Mediocre" that never encounter resistance. Nobody worries about them.

We need no paid press agents to boost our fame. The professors were so enthused over our ability that they would break into their lectures to tell of our greatness. They knew that we were there. Such is the result of fame. Some of our work was so admired that it was framed without solicitation on our part, and now adorns the walls of Anatomy Hall. May next year's class gaze upon it and admire the work—not the framing.

We've seen some professors in a state of considerable anger, but that was due to their having to sit up nights and read in order to keep up with our vast supply of knowledge. We forgive them for their anger and jealousies. All famous people have envious admirers.

Even the type of professors that was born to hate a Freshman admitted that we were driven more intensely than any preceding class, due to changes in schedule and other matters beyond our control. But we were on the job. Even the conservation of coal did not keep us from work. We were in class when the rooms were so cold that our very "BRAINS WERE FROZEN." Some of us missed roll call, but after the close of the session—when we get a little time to attend to our personal wants—we're going to ask the "Almighty Father" to forgive us for having committed so dreadful a sin.

We have ranked first in class spirit, and stuck together through all differences. In protecting ourselves from things unreasonable, we always used "Our-God-Given-Gift-of-Reason."

Dear Professors and Slave Drivers: For services rendered, we thank you. If our greatness made it impossible for your irritabilities to be held in check, we wonder what will happen next year; because we'll be still greater and a heluva lot better as Sophomores.

TULANE DENTISTRY

WALLACE WOOD, JR., D.D.S.
DEAN OF THE COLLEGE OF DENTISTRY

History of Senior Dental Class

HERE are many influences which determine a young man's choice of a life profession. This choice is made after an exhaustive analysis of all the factors which necessarily enter into the making of this decision—a decision which marks an epoch in the life of every professional man.

During the months, and perhaps years, preceding September, 1915, there were twenty-seven young men whose tastes, hopes and aspirations led them to the choice of dentistry as their life profession.

So, in September, 1915, in pursuance of that choice, these men, coming from different States, as well as two foreign countries, assembled at New Orleans and matriculated in the Dental Department of Tulane University.

Under the stress of hard study and exacting technical work, our lines have at times been bent, and we have occasionally suffered a loss, but at no time have our lines been permanently broken. On the contrary, we have constantly pushed forward, receiving two splendid recruits in our Senior year, until we have finally achieved the initial success of our professional study—namely, the properly treated, engraved and signed “sheepskin.”

We, as a class, do not pose as the reservoir of all knowledge pertaining to the profession of dentistry, but we believe that among our ranks are men who will reflect credit upon our worthy professors—men who will be an honor to our beloved Alma Mater, and men who will be an honor to the profession. We take pride in noting the fact that a large majority of our class have already offered their services to our Government, and are now members of the Enlisted Medical Reserve Corps, and hope soon to be in active service of our country to help maintain and increase the efficiency of our fighting forces by giving scientific dental treatment.

Pharmacist

Senior Pharmacy Class History

WE belong to the "get through quick" crowd, because our course is a two-years one. As Juniors we started out eight strong, but now four remain, and are half and half as regards dresses and trousers. Louisiana and Texas are the States represented, and this representation is also half and half, as one boy and one girl come from Texas and the others from Louisiana. But our professors have a habit of saying seventy-five per cent of the class is present when only the two girls show up.

Our friends, Mack, or, better known to some as "My Coon," is a fellow that has a way all his own, for he comes and goes when he feels like it. When with us he makes us feel his presence, for it is "I" on every crook and turn; he walks around with much the same air as a peacock; however, he would put to shame the peacock if he ever got a glimpse of him. Notwithstanding this fact, Mack is a dandy good sport, for he takes his girl riding in her dad's machine.

Now, Brother Jackson—who has various and sundry other names, but this one seems to stick best—is our Lone Star girl. She has temper for the entire class, and is made up of moods. She says and does what she thinks, and the class sometimes wonders what to expect, and just where she will "break out" next. Her redeeming characteristic is that of looking out for the entire class. She is just like a hen with an only chick, for, even though she "chews the rag" with her own chick, she does not tolerate any abuse of it on the part of others.

"Old Reliable" Woodford is another Lone Star specimen. He is always seen, but seldom heard. Brother Jackson did manage to create a little "get back" in him when she said a rubber stopper was but a stopper, but a cork was not a stopper. "Old Reliable" does not wear a smile, but he always looks so pleasant that it almost makes him good-looking. He is a perfect mimic, for he conducts our weekly quiz in such a manner that we could shut our eyes and imagine it was Dr. Bethea.

Last, but not least, is our Cousin-cousin (Marie). Oh, yes, she is least in size, but otherwise she is the biggest member of the class. Tenacity! Well, yes—she has the bulldog sort, for, once starting a thing, she never lets go until it has been accomplished to the satisfaction of all. Now, we all ought to have known (but we did not), that an ounce is the name in imperial or U. S. wine measure, but even now Cousin-cousin is told to make up two ounces (imperial measure) of some solution she has to think it over for a while, for "imperial" strikes as something foreign. Dropping thoughts of Love and Maytime,
Dropping dreams of Cupid's spell—
Thinking only night and daytime

A History of Fraternities at Tulane University

THE first academic fraternity to be established at Tulane University was the Kappa Alpha Fraternity, which entered Tulane in 1882. Since that time thirteen other fraternities have established chapters at Tulane, the last being the Delta Sigma Phi, which was established here in 1916.

Among the medical fraternities, their establishment has been comparatively recent. The first to be established was the Alpha Kappa Kappa, in 1903, and since that time seven others have established chapters, the last being the Phi Alpha Sigma, which was established in 1917. The Psi Omega Fraternity, the great national dental organization, came in about 1910, and the Phi Delta Phi legal fraternity was established in 1911.

Newcomb College boasts of eight sororities, the first of which, Pi Beta Phi, was established in 1891, the last being the Alpha Epsilon Phi, which was established in 1916. Newcomb has also two honorary fraternities. The well-known Phi Beta Kappa, and the Cap and Gown, the latter a Senior organization. Phi Beta Kappa also flourishes at Tulane, while the Kappa Delta Phi annually elects to its membership ten men who by their Junior and Senior years have shown their college spirit.

The Medical School honors its scholarship leaders with the Stars and Bars and the Alpha Omega Alpha, the latter being a national fraternity, and as well known in medical circles as the Phi Beta Kappa is known in academic circles.

Fraternities at both Tulane and Newcomb have always played a great part in the social and political life of the University. The writer of this article, having had the opportunity to observe fraternities in other universities, has no hesitancy in saying that, on the whole, the fraternity man at Tulane is far above the average of the fraternity man in other Southern universities, and that the fraternities at Tulane have less of the snobbishness usually attended with the wearing of that small emblem on the waistcoat than at any other Southern university. Nor, we may add, have the sororities in any college or university in the United States either the beauty or the brains to compare with the members of the Newcomb sororities.

In conclusion, one word. Boys, let's get together and make our fraternities better by organizing a Pan-Hellenic.

Kappa Delta Phi is a Junior-Senior Society, organized for the promotion of college spirit at Tulane University. It seeks to obtain its object in two ways: First, by holding forth membership as a reward to those who have done more than the average man for their University, thus fostering and encouraging unusual effort; and, secondly, by binding together those who have made unusual effort, thus becoming a force for greater good by securing unity of action.

The Tulane University Student Council consists of the Presidents of the student bodies of the University. The Council was organized in March, 1915, for the purpose of directing student activities, and regulating affairs common to the student bodies in general. The Constitution provides that there shall be a President, Vice-President, Secretary and Treasurer. The members are:

EUGENE D. SAUNDERS	Law
E. DAVIS McCUTCHON	Arts and Sciences
RAOUL VALLON	Technology
M. T. VAN STUFIFORD	Downtown Medical.
OLIN W. MOSS	Uptown Medical.

Due to the earnest and untiring efforts of the Tulane Athletic Council, Tulane now boasts of her new concrete stadium, which is the finest in the South. This past year we also had the finest football and basketball schedule in our history, and next year's schedules are still better. The Tulane Athletic Council is greatly to be congratulated on all of their attainments for the betterment of Tulane athletics.

A Review of the 1917 Football Season

The football season of 1917 will always be remembered for two things—the opening of the new Tulane concrete stadium, and the decisive victory over L. S. U. on Thanksgiving Day by the score of 28 to 6.

In the first two games of the season, Tulane easily defeated Jefferson and Spring Hill. These two practice games showed that Tulane, for the first time in many years, had an abundance of material from which to develop a strong team.

The third game of the season was played against the University of Florida, at Gainesville, and was a complete victory for the Greenbacks. Quoting from a Gainesville paper which carried an account of the game, we read: "Hopelessly outclassed by the best team ever seen on Fleming Field, the 'Gators went down to defeat before Tulane by a score of 52 to 0." The article further states that "the Tulane team worked with a precision and snap—it has the fighting spirit that is quick to snatch up any advantage, large or small."

On Saturday, October 27, the new concrete stadium was dedicated, with impressive ceremonies, and in the game that followed Tulane defeated a selected team from the Washington Artillery by the score of 18 to 0. The soldier team was ably coached by Lieutenant Carl Woodward, former Tulane star, but showed a lack of team work, and was unable to withstand the attacks of the Greenbacks.

The opening of the Stadium was the realization of a fond hope which the followers of Tulane have cherished for many years. Gloriously bedecked in flags and bunting, and packed to capacity, the big concrete stand presented an imposing picture when Hon. Martin Behrman, Mayor of the City of New Orleans, rose to deliver the presentation speech in behalf of the community. The Stadium was fittingly received by Dr. Robert Sharp, Tulane's honored President, amidst the acclamations of the great throng. On this occasion, too, a testimonial of gratitude was presented to Mr. Herman Seiferth, the originator of the idea of Realization Day, which made the Stadium possible.

After the Washington Artillery game, the Tulane team journeyed to College Station, where it was defeated by Texas A. & M. in a game that needs no further comment here.

The next game was played at the new Stadium against Georgia Tech, the undisputed champions of the South, and, in the minds of many experts, the best team in the country in 1917. Tulane was defeated by the score of 48 to 0, but never in the history of football at Tulane has her green-clad warriors put up such a noble fight in the face of overwhelming odds. Faust and Clay were unable to play, and Foster was hurt early in the game, but the team fought nobly on.

After this game Tulane was defeated by Rice, 16 to 0. In this game, Tulane was particularly weak on the offensive, and failed to show the fight and drive that it exhibited during the season. This game attracted a large crowd.

KELLY

As a fitting conclusion to a successful season, Tulane defeated her ancient rival, L. S. U., on Thanksgiving Day at Baton Rouge, to the tune of 28 to 6. The Greenbacks thoroughly outclassed the Tigers, and showed decided superiority in passing, interference and all-around play.

To pick the individual stars of the season for Tulane would be practically impossible. All of the men who made their "T's" worked hard throughout the entire season.

In conclusion, let us add great praise to the "scrubs," who so valiantly withstood the attacks of the varsity, so that the team which took the field to represent their Alma Mater would be in fine condition. Such instances as McCay and Tucker, who were injured severely early in the season, show the spirit of the "scrubs." Also, let us add a word of commendation for the Naval Reserve team, which gave the varsity much practice during the season. The sailors were always willing to assist, and their efforts were greatly appreciated.

Review of the 1918 Basketball Season

When the basketball season came around, prospects for a good team were very bright, but just as the call for candidates was issued, Coach Shaughnessy became a benedict and went to Cuba for his honeymoon. Things looked black for a time, but on the day before the Christmas holidays the Tulane Athletic Council put Physical Director Hanson in charge, and the team began regular practice. During the middle of January the team was sufficiently prepared to play, so the Auburn "Plainsmen" paid us a visit, and were defeated in two well-played games.

Due to war conditions, no set schedule could be arranged, but an "extended" invasion of Alabama was attempted. The U. of Alabama was defeated in two games, and the Birmingham A. C. was also snowed under. The coach of the latter team, "Bill" Streit, proclaimed Tulane the best team in the South, with the possible exception of Georgia. Then injuries weakened the team, and we were defeated by Auburn and Mobile Y. M. C. A., though the latter team was later defeated by us in New Orleans. L. S. U. denied our championship claim, but as Dr. Stroud could not hold his team together for two weeks while we finished our road trip, he can say nothing that will be used against Tulane's claims.

The Crescents, champions of the local Senior A. A. U. League, did challenge us, and they were nicely trimmed, 33 to 24, even though Tulane's star guard was chasen from the game. With the exception of our friends from L. S. U., all Louisiana now proclaims us State champions, and admits that we have a valid claim on the Southern title.

A Review of the Track Season

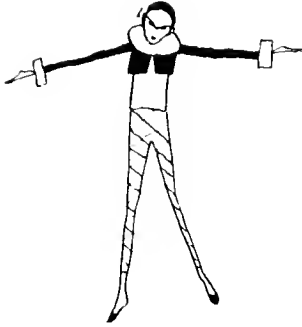

WE were not represented in the S. I. A. A. meet last spring, so that our track season consisted of two dual meets—with Mississippi A. & M. and Louisiana State University.

The first meet of the year was with Mississippi A. & M., on April 28, in New Orleans. The Mississippi aggregation was headed by Don Scott, the great quarter-miler, and was confident of going home victorious. Despite the fact that Scott showed his heels to the crowd in the quarter, half and mile races, Tulane won the meet by the score of 57 to 52. There was no star for Tulane, but Tucker, Stouse, Simpson and Bott deserve mention as the principal point gainers.

In the next meet with L. S. U., held in Baton Rouge, we were not so fortunate, and were beaten by the score of 69 to 53. This was a most interesting meet. Three S. I. A. A. records were beaten that day, though the time does not stand, as S. I. A. A. records cannot be officially beaten in a dual meet. Lewis, of L. S. U., ran the high hurdles in 15 seconds and the low hurdles in 26 seconds. Thorgeson and Funk, both of L. S. U., broke records in the pole vault and high jump, respectively. Tucker and Stouse were probably the stars for Tulane, though the whole team did their best, which is proved by the fact that their opponents were forced to break records to beat them.

The Tennis Season

NOT in the history of intercollegiate tennis, which began in 1883, has any college performed the feat accomplished by Tulane in winning both the singles and doubles for three consecutive years. The nearest that any college has come to duplicating this feat was in the years 1913-'14-'15, when Harvard won the doubles in all three years and the singles in two of the years.

In defeating Georgia Tech, the only entry, in the doubles of the Southern Intercollegiate tournament at the Country Club last spring, Tulane's representatives accomplished this no small feat.

Morris and Watters were far superior to the Georgia Tech team and were at no stage of the contest in danger of losing even a single set. The final score was 6-0, 6-3, 6-3.

By eliminating both members of the Georgia Tech, Watters and Morris met in the finals of the singles. Morris played a good game, but was no match for Watters, who lived up to his reputation as the peer of Southern net stars.

Physical Training Notes

Since the importance of physical training has been asserted by the Government, in stating that it is the "backbone" of the military, it has inspired Tulane students to take advantage of the gymnasium, and made this year the most successful in its history. A striking example of this was when Mr. Bostick was one of the two out of fifty-two applicants to pass the test for the Aviation Corps. He developed from a 2 per cent man to one of the best all-around athletes in the South, and all was due to physical training.

Our annual wrestling tournament is complete, and the following students will be awarded their letters as winners: Paperweight, Walter Gill; bantamweight, F. A. Wulff; featherweight, R. E. Lothrop; lightweight, C. G. Devron; welterweight, C. W. O'Leary; middleweight, John Wight; heavyweight, E. B. Williams. These men will probably compete in the A. A. U. wrestling championships.

More apparatus has been purchased, until at present the gymnasium is considered the best in the South. Bequests and donations are still in order for a much-needed swimming tank.

The course in physical training has been growing in numbers so steadily that an assistant physical instructor was found necessary, and Mr. R. W. Leche has been appointed to that position.

The gymnasium is doing its share in preparedness, and the student who fails to take advantage of the opportunity offered is to be classed as a slacker.

CAPTAIN DAVID HUGHES
INSTRUCTOR IN MILITARY TRAINING

Military Training at Tulane

MILITARY training at Tulane has been the result of a feeling so strong that, despite many obstacles, has come to stay. To change Tulane into a military school was so radical that the faculty had taken no action along this line when the university opened in the fall, though there had been some discussion of the matter.

At a meeting of the entire student-body, excepting Newcomb and the down town medicals, held in January, a rule was unanimously passed making military training compulsory on all students of the Colleges of Arts and Science, Technology, and Law unless exempted by the Student Exemption Board. The membership of this board is composed of the President of the student bodies or their assignees, and one faculty member. When this rule first went into effect the authority of this board was very limited, in fact the only means it had of enforcing its mandates was by appealing to the sentiment of the student body.

However, before any trouble had arisen as to powers of this board the Board of Administrators of the University had passed a resolution making the rule adopted by the students compulsory, and thereby assuring enforcement of the decrees of the Student Exemption Board.

So, beginning February 1, the Tulane army reported for active duty. The students were divided into two companies; Company A, meeting on Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons; Company B, meeting on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons. The mistakes were many at first, but now everything is going smoothly and we feel safe in predicting that some day Tulane will be one of the leading military schools of the South.

Too much cannot be said of the spirit displayed by the students in starting this move and for the manner in which they have co-operated with the authorities.

From the German

The bloody curtain is drawn once more—
War has begun again its tragedy;
From everywhere the actors have been summoned,
Of every class and nationality.

Do you think that you alone can witness
The struggle staging with untroubled brow?
To criticize and praise or blame the actors?
Nay! Up and throw your fortunes with them now!

You, too, are of those who have been chosen,
Who has arms, let him come without delay.
With a shout let all join in the battle,
Then—on with the play!

The Supervising Editor desires to apologize for placing these pictures in the Joke Section. They were to have immediately followed the Newcomb Senior Class Roll, but, through an oversight in making up the book, he failed to leave space for them, and, before the mistake could be rectified, the first part of the book had gone to press. He hopes that the Newcomb Senior Class will accept his apology.

Economics I Lecture

at the last hour we were discussing wage rates, but before taking up this matter I must remind you of the Friday night Business Talk at the Assn. of Commerce. Just a minute the phone is ringing and I have to answer it as I am expecting a very important wire from Pres. Wilson about labor problems at the ship yards.....

Now we will continue, but first, how many of you have bought a W. S. S.? But this is a slight digression. As I was saying, ribeters are now getting 75¢ per hr, unskilled labor 35¢ etc. Oh! but I think I forgot to assign the reading last time—just finish the book. Yesterday when I was talking to my friend from Washington, he said, ——— but this is strictly confidential. Mr. Gesner, please take attendance, I think now that I have made the main points clear.

Senior Ingenuity

You have heard of the meatless and wheatless days,
Of the days without coal and wood;
 But in Newcomb we find
 A different kind
Of "lessness" than fuel and wood.
We are doing without, goodness knows that we do;
And the more that we do, the more that we do.
And exam-less exam would pass in a crowd,
But a model-less model was more than we 'lowed.

INCOMPARABLE SUCCESS OF THE PEERLESS HARVARD DENTAL CHAIR

is demonstrated by the character of its purchasers. The U. S. Government sought to purchase more PEERLESS HARVARDS than its manufacturers could deliver in the required time, owing to tremendous private purchases having already depleted the stock of the Dental Depots and the manufacturer; yet the requisitions for, and The Harvard Company deliveries of, PEERLESS HARVARDS have been unprecedented.

Already delivered for use in the U. S. Army and Navy. In fact, all the permanent Dental Chairs bought for the Navy have been PEERLESS HARVARDS. All by the Red Cross, fifty in addition to the above, have been PEERLESS HARVARDS. All for the Motor Dental Cars furnished by American Dentists, Dr. S. M. Weaver of Cleveland, chairman of the purchasing committee for Army use, are PEERLESS HARVARDS. The purchasing boards for all these departments seek first of all the highest quality.

The PEERLESS HARVARD is being more rapidly installed in the highest class offices and industrial corporation Dental Departments than any other chair. This also could not prevail were it not the best chair.

WE believe Tulane University is a big asset to New Orleans and an important factor in the material and moral advancement of the city; that its objects are worthy and its accomplishments meritorious; that it plays an influential part in the social and business life of the community; that all commercial enterprises are made better by the presence of such a factor in the city in which all are established; that, therefore, we owe a duty to Tulane and are glad to fulfill it, and by this example show others that we have faith which they likewise should have.

Tulane is one of the great educational institutions of the country and merits the support of everyone here.
